Welcome

We are pleased to present the 2020-2021 Beaver County Senior Resource Guide. The guide is not just for older adults but also for the bounty of professionals and caregivers who serve them.

The Resource Guide's comprehensive listing of resources and services begins on page 6 with programs offered by the Beaver County Office on Aging (BCOA). BCOA covers the gamut of community and home-based services in our county for those who qualify.

The Healthcare Resources section starting on page 16 encompasses a broad spectrum of resources in our area—from mental health to hospice care, and preventative health to hearing assistance. We provide listings of adult day services, home health agencies, respite care and other in-home services that enable seniors to live independently in their own residences.

The rest of the Resource Guide outlines helpful information for every facet of life: from home safety, and legal and financial services to transportation, housing options, volunteering and other life enrichment activities—all designed to help older adults get the best from themselves, their community and their lives.

Keep this booklet handy so you can refer to it, as needed. And let us know how you use this publication, as well as your thoughts on how we can continue to improve it to better serve you.

A message from Linda L. Hall,
Administrator, Beaver County Office on Aging

Linda L. Hall, Administrator

During these unprecedented times, I could not be more proud of the Beaver County Office on Aging staff. This year has been like no other as the COVID-19 global pandemic has affected all of us. We quickly had to restructure our agency to accommodate the challenges of providing services remotely. BCOA staff successfully transitioned and worked diligently to provide ongoing support to our consumers.

Our devoted employees created a COVID-19 Task Force which, along with other employees, provided updated information, delivered meals, made wellness calls and attended to special concerns from consumers and the public.

Programs serving large groups had to be temporarily closed to combat the spread of the virus. Recognizing the importance for socialization during this time, the dedicated staff of these programs were innovative in providing programs virtually and keeping in contact with their participants. Although these changes are necessary now, we are looking forward to returning as soon as safely possible.

I am grateful to all of you for your support of our most vulnerable people, our older adults, who rely on us. They remain our top priority. Thank you for your patience, compassion, inspiration and encouragement. Please take care of yourselves and your loved ones.

Warm regards,
Linda

Information and Referral

Information and Referral is the first step in accessing Beaver County Office on Aging information and services. A trained counselor works with the individual to create an action plan with the steps needed to meet their goals. The counselor follows along and advises the individual as long as necessary to attain an acceptable outcome.

Caregiver Support Program

The Caregiver Support program is designed to reduce caregiver stress and burden. It is intended to help adult primary caregivers of functionally dependent older adults (age 60 or older), relative caregivers of impaired adults (age 18 and older) with dementia, and older-relative caregivers (GRANDPARENTS) (age 55 and older) of children (through age 18).

The programs are caregiver-driven and flexible, supporting each family in ways that are specific to their needs and preferences. The program's range of services includes: needs assessment, care management and respite care, legal and benefits counseling, caregiver education and training, home modification, support groups and reimbursement for caregiving expenses. All household members are required to verify income and assets.

The Caregiver program takes a cost-sharing approach; income-eligible families may receive assistance with out-of-pocket expenses ranging from respite care to adult briefs. In addition, one-time grants may be given to qualified families to assist in modifying the home or to purchase assistive devices. Such adaptations might include installing a stair glide or modifying a bathroom.

For more information on these programs and eligibility requirements, call (724) 847-2262 or (888) 548-2262, email CSP@BCOA.US, or visit beavercountypa.gov/Depts/OOA.

Assessments, also known as Functional Eligibility Determinations, are completed on individuals who are applying for Medical Assistance funded programs and services such as the Community Health Choices Waiver, Nursing Facility payment, Personal Care Home/Domiciliary Care Home supplement. A certified assessment care manager evaluates the individual's unique needs which results in a level of care determination. The level of care determination, in conjunction with a financial eligibility determination by the Department of Human Services, is used to recommend the most appropriate program to meet the individual's needs.

Long-term Care Ombudsman

Beaver County Office on Aging Ombudsman Program

Ombudsman is a Swedish word that means "citizen advocate"

"Advocate for those who can't, support those who can, and ensure all long-term care consumers live with dignity and respect."

Ombudsmen visit each personal care and nursing facility in Beaver County to talk with residents, family, and staff about the quality of life in the facility.

They complete resident-directed complaint investigations where the goal is to resolve issues to the satisfaction of the resident.

The long-term care ombudsmen...

- investigates
 - verifies
 - resolves
- follows up to ensure the agreed-upon resolution stays in place.

Confidentiality and consumer direction are extremely important throughout the process.

Surprises for Shut-ins continues on this holiday season through donations

By Angela Gentile
Beaver County Office on Aging

Since 1987, the Beaver County Office on Aging's Surprises for Shut-in Program has provided a friendly visit and a bag of gifts to our consumers, caregivers, and many personal care home residents. For 33 years, we have been amazed at the enormous generosity of the community and the hard work and dedication of volunteers and staff to help brighten the holiday season for many older adults.

This year, due to the pandemic, we can NOT accept donated gifts. Please consider sending a monetary donation to assist with the purchase of food, gifts and necessities. Your support will be greatly appreciated by many isolated and homebound individuals.

Beginning in October, please visit the Beaver County Office on Aging website at beavercountypa.gov/Depts/OOA for updated information about the program. Direct your questions to Angela Gentile at (724) 847-2262. To make a monetary donation, please make checks or money orders (no cash) payable to the Beaver County Office on Aging.

Thank you for making a difference and spreading joy in the lives of many!

Circle of Friends

Please be patient and bear with us as we strive to navigate through this "new normal." Our first and very most important priority is to keep all of our participants, staff and volunteers safe and healthy. We will have plenty of hand sanitizer available, we suggest everyone wear a cloth mask, and we will be disinfecting surfaces daily throughout the day.

The following are some of the weekly activities that will be starting back up. If you have any questions regarding activities, call your local center.

As our region begins to re-open and get back to a sense of normalcy, the staff at Circle of Friends community centers is looking forward to seeing our friends! We have certainly missed all of your smiling faces!

As we open our doors again, please note that there will be some changes. Some activities or programs may move to different days or times. The centers are required to follow social distancing guidelines set forth by the CDC. We will have a limit on the number of people that can be in the centers at any one time, but we will do our best to continue to offer the activities and classes that so many people enjoy.

Line dancing, exercise classes, bingo and the use of the exercise equipment will all be starting back up immediately, while following social distancing practices, and meals will also be served.

Please note: It is very important to call at least two days in advance to make a meal reservation. We are required to limit the number of guests at the centers, and therefore will only be able to take a certain number of meal reservation!

Please call for more information.

Many of us serve as caregivers at some point in our lives—especially as we grow older. If you unexpectedly find yourself in a caregiver role, please know that there are plenty of services out there to help you. This section of the Guide explains the many forms of support that can help keep your loved one living independently for as long as possible, while taking into consideration your needs as a caregiver.

Respite care (volunteer or paid), Home Health Agencies or in-home non-medical care may be the answer. Or you may decide to hire a geriatric care manager to arrange and oversee your loved one's care. Perhaps adult day care may be appropriate for your situation. This section will give you an overview of all of these services and more, and local resources for finding the support you need.

In addition, it includes helpful checklists, health screening information, tips on choosing a doctor and even making your hospital stay pleasant, if you or your loved one should need to spend time there. We are fortunate to have an abundance of these resources in Beaver County; consider taking advantage of them. After all, you can't adequately care for someone else if you don't care for yourself, as well.

Ten Tips for Caregivers

1. Caregiving is a job and respite is your earned right. Reward yourself with respite breaks often.
2. Watch out for signs of depression, and don't delay in getting professional help when you need it.
3. When people offer to help, accept the offer and suggest specific things that they can do.
4. Educate yourself about your loved one's condition and how to communicate effectively with doctors.
5. There's a difference between caring and doing. Be open to technologies and ideas that promote your loved one's independence.
6. Trust your instincts. Most of the time they'll lead you in the right direction.
7. Caregivers often do a lot of lifting, pushing and pulling. Be good to your back.
8. Grieve for your losses and then allow yourself to dream new dreams.
9. Seek support from other caregivers. There is great strength in knowing that you are not alone.
10. Stand up for your rights as a caregiver and a citizen.

Home Health Agencies

Getting Started

Usually, once your doctor refers you for home health services, staff from the home health agency will come to your home to talk to you about your needs and ask some questions about your health. The home health agency will also talk to your doctor about your care and keep him updated about your progress. Doctor's orders are needed to start care.

Your Plan of Care

The home health agency will work with you and your doctor to develop your plan of care. A plan of care lists the services that are appropriate for your health issues. You have the right to be involved in any decisions about your treatment. Your plan of care should include answers to the following questions:

- What services do you need?
- What healthcare professionals should provide these services?
- How often you will need the services?
- What medical equipment will you need?
- What results does your doctor expect from your treatment?

Your doctor and home health agency staff should review your plan of care as often as necessary (at least once every 60 days). If your health condition changes, the home health staff should tell your doctor right away. The home health staff should only change your plan of care with your physician's approval and should also tell you about any changes to it. If you have questions about your care or feel that your needs aren't being met, talk to both your doctor and the home health agency.

We all want to maintain the best possible health while remaining independent in our own homes. Home health agencies, or HHAs, help older adults meet this goal by providing healthcare services to ill, disabled or vulnerable individuals right in their residences.

HHAs offer services such as:

- physical, occupational and speech therapy.
- personal caregivers.
- home health aides and nursing.
- social work.

Medicare may pay for services provided by HHAs that are approved for certification by the Federal Health and Human Services' Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). See bottom left column for a partial list of HHAs licensed by the Department of Health in Pennsylvania.

Who can get Medicare-covered home healthcare?

If your doctor decides that you need medical care at home and the home health agency caring for you is Medicare-certified, you can receive services. You must need skilled care services and must be homebound, or unable to leave home without help.

What services does home healthcare cover?

Skilled care services—that is, services and care that can only be performed by a registered or licensed practical nurse.

Home health aide services—these aides support the nurse by providing help with personal care tasks.

Physical therapy—includes exercise to regain movement and strengthen a body area, and training on how to do daily activities.

Speech-language therapy—to regain and strengthen speech skills.

Occupational therapy—to help with usual daily activities, including learning new ways to eat, put on clothes, etc.

Medical social services—to help you with social and emotional concerns related to an illness.

Certain medical supplies—like wound dressing (but not prescription drugs).

Durable medical equipment—such as a wheelchair or walker.

Who orders services?

Most often, your doctor, social worker or hospital discharge planner will help arrange for Medicare-covered home health care. You have a say, however, about which home healthcare agency you use.

Visit medicare.gov for details about home healthcare coverage and Medicare benefits.

Hospice Care

Hospice provides support and special care for a person at the end of life or in the final phase of an incurable illness. Hospice neither advances nor postpones death but recognizes dying as a normal part of life. Under hospice care, individuals can live their last days as comfortably and fully as possible; the patient and family are able to prepare for death both mentally and spiritually. A doctor is required to prepare a hospice order but a team of people are involved in providing hospice services, including physicians, hospice medical directors, nurses, aides, social workers, spiritual counselors and volunteers.

A quick FAQ about hospice care:

Who qualifies for hospice care? Any person who has a life-threatening or terminal illness.

How does hospice care work? Typically, a family member serves as the primary caregiver and, when appropriate, helps make decisions for the terminally ill individual. The hospice staff makes regular visits to assess the patient and provide additional care. Hospice staff is on-call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

United States Department of Labor
1 (866) 487-9243

If you are responsible for caring for an immediate family member (spouse, child or parent) with a serious health condition, you may be eligible under the Family and Medical Leave Act for up to a total of 12 work weeks of unpaid

Is the patient's home the only place where care can be delivered? No. The majority of hospice patients are cared for in their own homes but also in homes of loved ones, nursing homes, personal care homes and prisons.

Is hospice care covered by insurance? Eighty percent of people who use hospice care are ages 65 and older, and are thus entitled to services offered by the Medicare Hospice Benefit.

Palliative Care

What is Palliative Care?

Palliative care is for a person of any age and at any stage in an illness, whether that illness is curable, chronic or life-threatening. Palliative care basically relieves or soothes the symptoms of a disease and can be provided by one doctor while other doctors work with a patient to try and cure an illness. Getting such care can actually help a patient recover from an illness by relieving pain, anxiety or loss of appetite when undergoing medical treatments or procedures such as surgery or chemotherapy. Palliative care can be provided at a hospital, nursing home, assisted living facility or in one's home.

The palliative team:

- provides relief from pain and other uncomfortable symptoms.
- assists in making difficult medical decisions.
- coordinates care with other doctors and helps to navigate the often-complex healthcare system.
- helps to make a plan for living well and provides emotional and spiritual support.

Screenings/Preventative Health

Screening Tests for Adults Ages 50 and Older

Screenings are medical tests that look for diseases before you have symptoms. These tests can find diseases early when they are easier to treat. Getting recommended screenings is one of the most important things you can do for your health. Health experts from the US Preventive Services Task Force have made the following recommendations about which screening tests you need and when to get them.

- Abdominal aortic aneurysm. If you are a male between ages 65 and 75, and have ever been a smoker, talk with your doctor about being screened.
- Blood pressure. Have your blood pressure checked at least every two years.
- Bone density. Get a bone density test at age 65 or older to screen for osteoporosis.
- Breast cancer. Women should have a mammogram every one to two years.
- Cervical cancer. Women should have a Pap smear every one to three years. After 65, check with your doctor.
- Cholesterol. Have your cholesterol checked regularly.
- Colorectal cancer. Have a test for colorectal cancer.
- Depression. If you feel sadness or hopelessness that lasts two weeks or longer, talk to your doctor about being screened for depression.
- Diabetes. Have a blood test for diabetes if you have high blood pressure.
- Obesity. Have your body mass index (BMI) calculated to screen for obesity. Calculate your own BMI at nhlbisupport.com/bmi/.

A Dose of Prevention

- Aspirin. Ask your doctor about taking aspirin to prevent heart disease.
- Immunizations. Adults ages 65 and older should get flu and pneumococcal shots. You can prevent other serious diseases, such as pneumonia, whooping cough and shingles by being vaccinated with a flu shot. Individuals under age

65 who have chronic illness such as heart or lung disease, diabetes or end-stage renal disease should get a flu shot. Those at risk for Hepatitis B should get Hepatitis B shots. You need a flu shot every year. Talk with your doctor about the vaccines you need and when to get them or visit cdc.gov.

Warning Signs of Heart Attack, Stroke, Depression and Dementia

Heart attack:

- Tightness in chest
- Pain in arm(s)
- Shortness of breath
- Women generally have indigestion and nausea, fatigue, rapid heart beat, shoulder pains and, in some cases, no noticeable warning signs.

It is important to seek medical attention immediately when signs of a heart attack or stroke occur. If you experience signs of either, dial 911 immediately.

Ongoing, it's important to receive physical exams on a regular basis, and to adopt a healthy lifestyle—including a balanced, low-fat/high-fiber diet, increased physical activity, and no tobacco use. This will reduce your risk of heart attacks and strokes. For more information, visit the American Heart Association at americanheart.org, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at cdc.gov, National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute at nhlbi.nih.gov or National Stroke Association at stroke.org.

Stroke:

- Sudden muscle weakness, numbness or paralysis in face, arm or leg, especially on one side of the body
- Sudden blurry vision or loss of vision in one or both eyes
- Confusion or trouble speaking or understanding simple statements
- Sudden trouble walking
- Dizziness, loss of balance or coordination

- Sudden severe headache with no known cause

- Sudden nausea, fever and vomiting

- Brief loss of or decreased consciousness (fainting, confusion, convulsions or coma)

Depression:

- Sadness, hopelessness or helplessness
- Fatigue or slowed movement
- Unexplained or aggravated aches and pains
- Lack of interest in personal care, hobbies and pastimes
- Social withdrawal and isolation
- Weight loss or loss of appetite
- Sleep disturbances
- Memory problems
- Loss of self-worth
- Increased use of alcohol or other drugs

- Fixation on death, suicidal thoughts or attempts

Dementia and Alzheimer's Disease:

Choosing a Doctor

Choosing a Doctor

There are many reasons why you might be looking for a new doctor. You may have moved or your doctor could be retiring. The following ideas can help you find a doctor who is right for you.

Type of Doctor

For your primary care doctor, you might want one of the following:

- General practitioners provide healthcare for a wide range of medical problems. They do not focus on any one area of medicine.
- Family practitioners have extra training on healthcare for all family members, regardless of age.
- Internists are doctors for adults. Some internists take additional training to become specialists. For example, cardiologists are internists who specialize in diseases of the heart.
- Geriatricians specialize in the care of older adults.

Finding a New Doctor

Ask people you know about doctors they use and like. Friends, coworkers and other health professionals may be helpful. A doctor whose name comes up often might be a good one to try. If you need more help finding names of doctors, contact a local hospital or medical center, medical society, physician referral service, or nearby medical schools. If you belong to a managed care plan, you can get a list of doctors from the plan's membership services office.

What to Look for in a Doctor

Board certification. Board certified doctors have extra training after medical school to become specialists in a field of medicine such as family practice, internal medicine, or geriatrics.

Communication. You want a doctor who will listen carefully to your concerns, answer your questions, and explain things clearly and fully.

Type of health insurance. Does the doctor accept your insurance plan?

Location. Will it be easy for you to get to the doctor's office?

Lab work. Will you need to go to another location for blood tests or are lab tests done in the doctor's office?

Availability. Who sees patients for the doctor if he is out of town or not available?

Once You've Found a New Doctor

Once you've found a doctor you like, your job is not finished. A good doctor-patient relationship is a partnership. Both you and your doctor should work together to solve your medical problems and maintain your good health.

Source: National Institute on Aging, nia.nih.gov.

Geriatric Medicine

A geriatrician is a physician trained in the care of older adults. A geriatrician will complete an assessment of a potential patient, and may work in tandem with the patient's primary care doctor to provide care. Alternatively, a geriatrician can serve as a patient's primary care doctor. In either case, geriatricians work with their staff to gather a team of caregivers, as needed—including psychiatrists, social workers, nurses, pharmacists and therapists.

When do you need a geriatric assessment?

If you:

- need a comprehensive baseline evaluation of your current existing health concerns.
- are dealing with multiple medical problems, including mental and emotional changes that often accompany physical illness.
- have feelings of depression or excessive worry.
- are experiencing persistent confusion or memory loss.
- have problems with bladder control.
- are having frequent or serious falls or problems with balance.
- your primary care physician needs to know how to better manage your care.

What does a geriatric assessment include?

- Functional assessment
- Cognitive (reasoning/judgment) assessment
- Gait (walking/balance) assessment
- Depression screening
- Medication review
- Long-term care placement assessment
- Need for support services assessment
- Recommendation of long-term care facilities
- Help to prepare an older adult for a move to another level of care

Planned Hospitalization Tips

Tips for Your Hospital Stay

Has your doctor said that you need a medical test that must be done in the hospital? Do you need surgery? Most people worry when they have to stay overnight in the hospital. Learning more about what to expect and about people who work in hospitals can help.

What to Bring

It's best to bring as little as you can to the hospital. You will need:

- Bathrobe and slippers; most hospitals provide special hospital bed clothes.
- Comfortable clothes to wear home.
- Toothbrush, toothpaste, shampoo, comb and brush, deodorant and razor.
- Your hearing aids or eye glasses.
- Cash (no more than $10) to buy newspapers or magazines.

Be sure to bring your health insurance card and this updated information:

- Past illnesses and surgeries.
- Your medicines, including prescription and over-the-counter drugs.
- Your allergies.
- Names and telephone numbers to contact in an emergency.

Admission

Once your hospital stay is planned, many hospitals will have a staff member call to ask pre-admissions questions over the phone. Then when you go to the hospital, many of the forms are already filled in. Your first stop at the hospital is the admitting office. You will sign forms that:

- give the hospital details about yourself, your doctor and your insurance.
- explain your surgery, test or procedure.
- give your okay for the medical staff to treat you.

You will be asked about advance directives. If you don't have health insurance, talk with the admissions staff about other payment methods and sources of financial aid. A hospital bracelet will be put on your wrist. Look at the bracelet to make sure your information is correct.

Hospital Staff

While you are in the hospital, many people will take care of you.

- Doctors are in charge of your overall care. The doctor in charge may be your primary doctor, a specialist on the hospital staff or a hospitalist who is trained to take care of you while you are in the hospital.
- Many kinds of nurses can take care of you. RNs can give medicines, licensed practical nurses can help feed you and nurse's aides can help with personal care.
- Respiratory therapists prevent and treat breathing problems. They teach exercises that help avoid lung infections after surgery.
- Technicians can take blood or perform tests such as X-rays.
- Physical therapists show you how to build muscle, increase flexibility and improve coordination.
- Occupational therapists work with you to restore, maintain or improve the ability to perform everyday tasks like cooking, eating, bathing or dressing.
- Dietitians can plan menus and teach you how to have well-balanced meals at home.
- Clinical pharmacists may be consulted about the medicines you take.
- Social workers assist you and your family. They can help find home care, rehabilitation, social services, long-term care and support groups.

Safety Tips

Because you may feel weak or tired, follow these safety tips.

- If you are told to stay in bed, use the call button when you need help.
- Use the controls to lower your bed before getting in or out.
- Sit on the edge of the bed for a minute before standing up.
- Watch out for the wires and tubes that may be around your bed.
- Try to keep the things you need within reach.

- Only take medicines given to you by nurses. Don't take medicine you brought from home without your doctor's permission.

- Hold onto grab bars for support when using the bathtub, shower or toilet.

For Families and Caregivers

A hospital stay can be very hard for older people. Often the strange routine and lack of sleep can cause confusion. Family and caregivers may be the first to notice these changes. Families should talk to a doctor if they see any confusion. During your hospital stay, you may have questions about what's happening. You may want to ask your doctor or nurse:

- What will this test tell you? Why is it needed and when will you know the results?
- What treatment is needed and how long will it last?
- What are the benefits and risks of treatment?
- When can I go home?
- When I go home, will I have to change my regular activities or my diet?
- How often will I need checkups?
- Is any other follow-up needed?
- Who should I call if I have questions?

Dissatisfied with the Quality of Your Healthcare?

If you are denied admission to a hospital, are asked to leave a hospital before you feel well enough or are dissatisfied with the quality of the medical care you received from a medical provider, call Livanta at (866) 815-5440.

Going Home

When you are ready to go home, you'll get discharge plans from the medical team and a release form from the hospital business office. Sometimes people go from the hospital to a rehabilitation center before going home. The social worker can help you go home or arrange admission to a rehab center.

Alzheimer's Support

Ten early signs and symptoms of Alzheimer's disease

Memory loss that disrupts daily life may be a symptom of Alzheimer's disease or another dementia. Alzheimer's is a brain disease that causes a slow decline in memory, thinking and reasoning skills. Here are 10 warning signs and symptoms of Alzheimer's. If you notice any of them, see a doctor.

Memory loss that disrupts daily life. A common sign of Alzheimer's is memory loss, especially recently learned information. Others include forgetting important dates or events, asking for the same information over and over, increasingly needing to rely on family members for things they used to handle on their own.

Challenges in planning or solving problems. Some people may experience changes in their ability to develop and follow a plan or work with numbers. They may have trouble following a familiar recipe, keeping track of bills or concentrating.

Difficulty completing familiar tasks at home or work. People with Alzheimer's often find it hard to complete daily tasks. They may have trouble driving to a familiar location, managing a budget or remembering the rules of a favorite game.

Confusion with time or place. People with Alzheimer's can lose track of dates and the passage of time. They may have trouble understanding something if it is not happening immediately, or forget where they are or how they got there.

Trouble understanding visual images and spatial relationships. For some, having vision problems is a sign of Alzheimer's. They may have difficulty reading, judging distance and determining color or contrast.

Problems with words in speaking or writing. People with Alzheimer's may have trouble following a conversation. They may stop in mid-sentence and have no idea how to continue, or they may repeat themselves.

Misplacing things and losing the ability to retrace steps. A person with Alzheimer's may put things in unusual places, lose things and be unable to retrace steps to find them. They may accuse others of stealing.

Decreased or poor judgment. People with Alzheimer's may experience changes in judgment or decision-making; for example, giving large amounts of money to telemarketers. They may pay less attention to hygiene.

Withdrawal from work or social activities. The person may start to remove themselves from social activities. They may have trouble keeping up with a favorite sports team or remembering how to complete a favorite hobby. They may avoid being social because of the changes they have experienced.

Changes in mood and personality. The personalities of people with Alzheimer's can change. They can become confused, suspicious, depressed, fearful or anxious. They may be easily upset at home or in places that are unfamiliar.

Alzheimer's Association

Helpline: (412) 261-5040 or (800) 272-3900
alz.org/pa

The Alzheimer's Association provides vital services and support to individuals struggling with the disease, their families and caregivers, including:

Helpline: The telephone Helpline is toll-free, convenient and confidential. It is answered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and provides:

- answers to your questions about Alzheimer's disease and other forms of dementia;

- an outlet to express your feelings and concerns to someone who understands your situation and can offer practical tips for coping;

- ongoing, unconditional support during the course of the disease;

- insight into the effects the disease will have on the afflicted person and his or her family; and

- information on assessment centers, legal and financial issues, home care, adult day services, personal care homes, nursing homes and other resources in your community.

Care Consultation

This service assists persons with Alzheimer's or related dementias and their families in planning for and dealing with all aspects of the illness.

Components of Care Consultation include:

- assessment of needs;
- assistance with planning and problem solving;
- information and resource lists;
- supportive listening; and
- follow up, as needed.

Care Consultation is not case management, care management, counseling, crisis intervention or case advocacy, but part of it may identify the need for and refer families to appropriate agencies or persons that provide these services. Care coordinators are not trained to provide crisis intervention. Families with ongoing or extremely critical needs will be linked with resources in the community that are best able to support them.

Alzheimer's Support Groups

The Alzheimer's Association sponsors caregiver support groups where individuals can connect with other families and caregivers who are dealing with the disease. Meeting with a group reduces feelings of isolation, provides techniques that can help ease the physical and emotional burden for both the diagnosed person and caregiver, and offers a chance to share practical ideas and feelings in a compassionate setting.

Pennsylvania hospitals are required by law to provide care for people who can't fully pay their medical bills. They are required because most hospitals receive funds--called "charity care" funds--that are to be used to help such patients. Call if you have trouble qualifying for health insurance or free or low-cost care from your hospital.

Access Home Modification Program

(800) 822-1174
phfa.org

Provides mortgage loans to assist persons with disabilities or who have a family member(s) living in the household with disabilities and who are purchasing a home that needs accessibility modifications. This program provides a deferred payment loan, with no interest and no monthly payment. The loan becomes due and payable upon payoff of the first mortgage, sale, transfer, refinance or non-owner occupancy of the property.

Reverse Mortgage

A reverse mortgage enables older homeowners to convert part of the equity in their homes into tax-free income without having to sell the home, give up their title or take on a new monthly mortgage payment. The reverse mortgage is aptly named because the payment stream is "reversed." Instead of making monthly payments to a lender, a lender makes payments for you.

A reverse mortgage can be paid to you all at once in a single lump sum of cash, as a regular monthly loan advance, or at times and in amounts that you choose. The amount of cash you can get depends in part on the specific reverse mortgage plan you select. You pay the money back plus interest when you sell your home, permanently move from your home or are deceased.

Who's Eligible

Borrowers must be age 62 or older and must occupy the home as a principal residence.

How They Work

Because you make no monthly payments, the amount you owe grows larger over time. As your debt grows larger, the amount of cash (or equity) remaining after selling and paying off the loan generally grows smaller. You are still responsible for property taxes, insurance and repairs.

What You Pay

The lowest cost reverse mortgages are offered by state and local governments; they generally have low or no loan fees, and the interest rates are typically moderate. Private sector reverse mortgages are very expensive and include a variety of costs. Reverse mortgages are most expensive in the early years of the loan and become less costly over time.

Tax and Estate Considerations

It's important to be aware that reverse mortgages may have tax consequences, affect eligibility for assistance under federal and state programs, and have an impact on the estate and heirs of the homeowner.

Safety for Seniors

Preventing Crime at Home

Most of us want to believe that crime is something that only happens “out there”—beyond our neighborhood or on the evening news. While older adults are less likely to be victims of crime than young adults, we can’t ignore that seniors are often targets for robbery, purse snatching, car theft, and home repair and Internet scams. Don’t let the fear of crime stop you from enjoying life but do be aware of your surroundings, even in your own home. These tips can help you fight crime and stay safe.

In Your Home:

- Make sure your locks, doors and windows are strong and secure. Keep them locked when you are at home and away.
- Don’t open your door before you know who’s there. Look through a peephole or safe window first.
- Don’t be afraid to hang up on telephone salespeople. Don’t give personal information over the phone.
- Be on guard about hiring people who come door-to-door looking for home repair work.
- Be careful when buying things online. Make sure that any website you are ordering items from has a secure server.
- Make a list of your expensive belongings and take pictures of the most valuable items. Store these papers in a safe place.
- Don’t keep large amounts of money at home.
- Consider using a home alarm system.

In Your Neighborhood:

- Get to know your neighbors and join a neighborhood watch program if your community has one.
- Walk with a friend. Stay away from unsafe places like dark parking lots or alleys.
- Keep your car doors locked at all times. Don’t open your car door or window for strangers.
- Carry your purse close to your body with the strap over your shoulder and across your chest.

Personal Response Systems (PERS)

Personal response systems allow a person — with the touch of a button — to reach someone at a response center 24 hours a day, seven days a week. For seniors and people with disabilities, these systems can give you or a loved one peace of mind.

The senior or disabled individual can often continue with daily activities and remain independent as a result of having a PERS.

The amount of assistance varies based upon household income and is to be used to return the housing unit to a code compliant condition with a secondary emphasis on energy conservation.

Are you ready for an emergency? (and why you should be!)

Editor's note: Please be sure to save the information in this article. It's designed to help you take the first steps in readying for an emergency. By developing a personal emergency plan and storing supplies in your home, you will be better prepared to withstand an emergency if and when it occurs.

Emergencies and disasters come in many types and sizes: heat waves and snow storms, fires and floods, power outages and hazardous material spills. You can often get through an emergency just by staying inside and being careful. At other times, emergencies can be such a serious threat to your health and safety that you may have to leave your home for a time. Most of us can get through a thunderstorm without incident but what if it causes a power outage that lasts for a few days? We are used to snowfalls but not like the one that happened last February.

Because emergencies often happen with little or no warning, you may have little or no time to prepare. For this reason, the trick is to take some simple steps to prepare ahead of time so that you will be ready when one happens. Moreover, your local police and other emergency personnel may not be able to respond to you right away if you need help when a general or widespread emergency—such as a flood or snowstorm—happens in your community. In these cases, being prepared can help you get through an emergency on your own until help arrives.

Remember to be a good neighbor and friend in an emergency. If you know others who may need help, especially those who live alone, they may really appreciate hearing from you and knowing that someone is thinking about them.

Individual Emergency Plans

Your individual emergency plan should be designed to meet your personal situation and needs in an emergency. The following information should help you create an effective emergency plan.

Who you will call. Begin your plan by thinking about which family members, friends, neighbors or other people you would call for help in a serious emergency. Ask if you would be able to call on them in an emergency. Once you have identified your emergency contacts, do this:

- Make a list of their names, addresses and phone numbers on small index cards that you can keep in your home and purse/wallet.
- Give copies to the people on your list so that they can communicate with each other.
- Make sure to add your name, address and phone number to the list so that the other people on it can call you.

Your list of people should include:

- the family member or other person who you feel you can most depend on in an emergency. This person should be someone with whom you stay in touch regularly, will always know where you are and will know how to contact you. This should be the first person you call in an emergency. If you must leave your home, this should be the first person that you call to say where you will be and how you can be reached.
- emergency services in your community, such as the police, fire and ambulance or emergency medical staff.
- your personal physician. (Make sure that your physician knows about all of the medications that you take.)
- your Office on Aging care manager or senior center.
- nearby family members, friends and others who may be able to help you, especially those who have a car and could come to your home or take you somewhere.
- someone you know well who lives outside the Beaver County area and may be easier to contact if local phone lines are jammed.

How you will get out. In some emergencies such as a fire, you may not be able to leave your home through a main entrance or get to the street. Your plan should list all the other ways that you can safely get out of and away from your home.

Where you will go. Your plan should list the place or places you will go if an emergency requires that you leave your home. For instance, if you must leave your home for a short time (an hour or so), pick a place close by, maybe with a family member or friend, where you will be safe and it will be easy to return home. If you must leave your home for a longer time, even a few days, indicate the name, address and phone number of a family member or friend where you will be able to stay until it is safe to return to your home.

What you need to take with you. If you have to leave your home, your plan should list the things that you will need to take with you so that you can find and pack them quickly, especially your medications. It also helps to keep some basic clothing items packed in a bag and ready to go. See “Emergency Home Supplies,” to the right.

How to secure your home. Since you may be away for a while, your plan should list the things you need to do to safeguard your home, such as the following.

- Lock doors and windows
- Unplug all major appliances
- Turn off utilities
- Have a house key with you and give another one to a nearby family member or friend

Special help you may need. If you have special medical or physical conditions or needs, list them so that they are known and can be met in an emergency. Tell the people on your contact list about your needs so that they will know what to do for you in an emergency. It is important to note anything that will affect your ability to leave or live away from your home for a few days, such as:

- you use a walker or wheelchair, or are unsteady on your feet.
- you have special medical needs such as oxygen or insulin.

- you need special medical services such as dialysis or heart monitoring.
- you have no automobile and will need transportation.
- you have to take medications regularly.
- you have other medical conditions or disabilities that affect your ability to move around such as arthritis or poor eyesight.
- you have pets that will need to be cared for.

This is a Medicare supplement insurance policy sold by private insurance companies to fill "gaps" in Original Medicare Plan coverage. Medigap policies only work with the Original Medicare Plan. The best time to buy a Medigap plan is during open enrollment, which lasts for six months. It starts on the first day of the month in which you are age 65 or older, and enrolled in Medicare Part B. In some situations, you may be able to buy a Medigap policy outside your open enrollment period. These rights are called "Medigap Protections."

Private Medicare Advantage Plans

A Medicare Advantage Plan is offered by a private insurance company that manages the health care of the plan's members. The government pays these companies money each month for each member. The company then helps to pay for medical care by doctors and hospitals that the member needs. These plans are required to provide all services covered under Medicare Parts A and B, and many plans offer additional benefits. In addition to a monthly premium, you may be responsible for out-of-pocket costs such as a co-payment or co-insurance for doctor and hospital visits. To see a specialist or doctor out of the plan, or get lab work, you need a referral from your primary care physician (PCP).

NOTE: Medicare Advantage Plans differ from a Medigap policy. Medigap is a policy sold by the private insurer to fill in the "gaps" with Original Medicare. You should not buy a Medigap plan if you are in a Medicare Advantage Plan. Medicare Advantage Plans are available in many areas. If you have one of these plans you do not need a Medigap policy. Medicare Advantage Plans include:

- Health Maintenance Organization (HMO)
- Preferred Provider Organization Plans (PPO)
- Private Fee-for-Service Plans (PFFS)
- Medicare Medical Savings Account Plans (MSA)
- Medicare Specialty Plans

Long-Term Care Insurance

Pennsylvania Insurance Department
Long-Term Living Helpline: (800) 932-0939
insurance.pa.gov

The US Department of Health and Human Services says that 70 percent of people over the age of 65 will require some type of long-term care, and more than 40 percent will need care in a long-term care facility. Long-term care services are typically not covered by health insurance, disability insurance or Medicare, so paying for these services out-of-pocket can quickly become unaffordable.

Long-Term Care (LTC) insurance is one option that many people choose to provide financial protection when they can no longer perform the most basic functions of daily living, such as bathing, dressing, toileting and feeding oneself. Coverage includes a variety of services and supports over an extended period of time that can be provided in many settings, including in the community where you live, in your home, in a medical facility or nursing home, or a combination of these, depending on your needs. Receiving these services and supports in your home or community can make it possible for you to continue to live at home rather than moving to an assisted living or nursing facility. Sometimes Long-Term Care insurance will also cover additional services to help with household tasks such as housework, meal preparation and grocery shopping.

It's Good to Plan Ahead

Planning ahead for the possibility that you will at some point in your life need long-term living services can greatly increase your options in the way you will receive support, services and care when the time arrives. It will allow your family and friends to know your preferences and ensure that your preferences are carried out. Planning ahead also provides you the opportunity to financially prepare for the cost of services, plan your housing options, and preserve your financial standard of living for yourself and your family. Everyone's situation is different, and there are plenty of options available based on your own unique circumstances and priorities.

Who Pays for Long-Term Care

Long-term living services can be very expensive. The cost of services varies significantly based on the types and amount of service that you need. While many believe that Medicare covers all or most of the cost, that is not the case. In Pennsylvania, the annual cost of a nursing facility can exceed $99,000. Home and community based services that can help you remain in your home cost less yet few can afford to pay for them out of pocket.

Programs are available that can help to pay for long-term living services and supports. It's important to learn about all the available funding sources, the services they cover and eligibility requirements. In addition to private insurance coverage, research these possible options:

Medicare: Medicare was never intended to cover the costs of long-term living; it is health insurance that covers services intended to treat short-term illnesses and injuries. Medicare coverage for long-term care is very limited. It does not pay for custodial care or non-skilled, personal care services, the level of care most commonly needed for chronic illness, cognitive impairment or fragility.

Medical Assistance: In Pennsylvania, Medical Assistance (a joint federal and state government program) is the largest payer of Long-Term Care services. Eligibility for services is often based on your income, personal resources and on functional ability. To qualify, an individual must spend down or exhaust their resources.

Department of Military and Veteran Affairs: If you are a military veteran, visit www.dmva.pa.gov to learn more about whether or not payment of long-term care is available to you.

Other options: You can also work with a licensed insurance company and/or agent to research and purchase coverage. A list of all companies selling Long-Term Care insurance can be found at PAHealthOptions.com or by calling (877) 881-6388. Some employers also offer Long-Term Care insurance as a benefit option, so check with your employer.

Medicines: Use Them Safely

Modern medicine makes our lives better and healthier but older adults should be careful when taking them, especially when using several drugs at the same time.

Generic or brand name? When getting a prescription filled, you may have a choice between a generic or brand-name drug. They contain the same active ingredients; the only difference is that generic drugs cost less. Ask the pharmacist if a generic drug is a choice.

Talk with your doctor and pharmacist. Once your doctor prescribes a medicine, tell him about all the over-the-counter and other meds you are taking. Remind him about any allergies or problems you've had. And find out the right way to take the medicine.

When taking your meds:

- Take it in the exact amount and time prescribed.
- Don't skip doses or take half doses.
- Avoid mixing alcohol and medicine.
- Take the medicine until it's finished.
- Don't take meds prescribed for another person or give yours to someone else.
- Don't take medicine in the dark.
- Don't leave your pills where a young child may get into them.

Funeral Planning

Funerals: What you Should Know as a Consumer

When a loved one dies, grieving family members and friends are often confronted with dozens of decisions about the funeral, which must be made quickly and under emotional duress.

- What kind of funeral should it be?
- What funeral provider should you use?
- Should you bury or cremate the body, or donate it to science?
- What are you legally required to buy?
- What other arrangements should you plan?
- And, as callous as it may sound, how much is it all going to cost?

The increasing trend toward making funeral arrangements in advance suggests that many consumers want to compare prices and services so that ultimately, the funeral reflects a meaningful and well-informed purchasing decision, as well as a suitable tribute to your loved one.

Planning for a Funeral

1. Shop around in advance. Compare prices from at least two funeral homes. Remember that you can supply your own casket or urn.

2. Ask for a price list. The law requires funeral homes to give you written price lists for products and services.

3. Resist pressure to buy goods and services you don't really want or need.

4. Avoid emotional overspending. It's not necessary to have the fanciest casket or the most elaborate funeral to properly honor a loved one.

5. Recognize your rights. Laws regarding funerals and burials vary from state to state. Know which goods or services the law requires you to purchase and which are optional.

6. Apply the same smart shopping techniques you use for other major purchases. You can cut costs by limiting the viewing to one day or one hour before the funeral, and by dressing your loved one in a favorite outfit instead of costly burial clothing.

7. Plan ahead. It allows you to comparison shop without time constraints, creates an opportunity for family discussion, and lifts some of the burden from your family.

Solving Problems

If you have a problem concerning funeral matters, it's best to try to resolve it first with the funeral director. You can also contact your state or local consumer protection agencies listed in your telephone book.

File a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission by contacting the Consumer Response Center at (877) 382-4357 or visit ftc.gov and use the online complaint form.

Final Details

Final Details: A Checklist

When you have just suffered an emotionally devastating event such as the death of a spouse or other loved one, the last thing you want to deal with is money and legal matters. But they do matter, now and for your future. Many of the following tasks can also be handled by family members and trusted friends, so allow them to assist you and consult your attorney if necessary.

Within the First Month
	Ask your bank to release joint bank account funds to you. In some states, joint bank accounts are automatically frozen upon the death of one spouse.
	Set up a new bank account.
	Secure an ample number of certified copies of the death certificate.
	Find important papers: deeds, bankbooks or account statements, stock certificates or investment account statements and insurance policies.
	Locate important certificates: your marriage certificate, spouse's birth certificate, military discharge papers, Social Security card, tax forms and birth certificates of any minor children. These records are needed to establish claims for Social Security, life insurance or veteran's benefits.
	Notify insurance companies (in writing) that insured your spouse of his/her death. Each company will need a statement of claim and a death certificate before the surviving spouse can receive benefits. Keep copies of all correspondence.
	Contact your Social Security office to find out if you are eligible for new benefits. Social Security benefits are not automatically paid out after a death; you must apply for them.
	Write a formal letter to your spouse's employer, union or any other group or professional organization with which he may have had an association. Many of these organizations have insurance policies of which you may be the beneficiary. Also inquire about any 401(k), pension or company stock benefits. If your spouse was a veteran, apply for veteran's benefits at the nearest Veterans Administration office. Keep copies of all correspondence.
	Advise all creditors in writing, including issuers of credit cards, that your spouse has died. If you have any loans, find out if they are insured.
	Consult a lawyer. Your family may be very well meaning, but they are not necessarily legal experts. Discuss fees before you engage any legal help.
	Cancel email and website accounts, memberships in organizations, drivers license, notify election board and credit reporting agencies.
Within the First Six Months
	See a tax accountant or tax lawyer. Federal law requires that an estate tax return be filed within nine months of the death, in many cases. Since tax laws are constantly being revised, it is important to seek out expert advice to determine your full tax liability.
	Probate. These procedures can be a complex matter, depending upon the size of the estate and claims against it. In some states, probate can take a year to complete, so again, an attorney can be helpful.
Within the First Year
	Determine your annual income, which consists of your salary (if you work), benefits and income-producing assets. This will include investments and savings.
	Create a yearly budget.

Advance Directives and Powers of Attorney

An advance directive helps to ensure that your healthcare wishes will be respected if you can't speak or communicate. It is usually a written, legal document. If you don't have a written document, you may express your wishes verbally to your family members or health care agent. It is wise to have an advance directive in case you become severely injured or ill and cannot participate in decisions about your health and medical care. Living wills and medical powers of attorney are types of advance directives.

Durable Power of Attorney (DPOA)

This written document authorizes an agent to handle certain types of transactions. General powers of attorney are broad and allow many types of transactions. Conversely, limited powers of attorney are for a specific task. The power of attorney is "durable" because it remains valid even after the person no longer has legal capacity to handle transactions, possibly due to an injury or illness. All powers of attorney executed since 1993 in Pennsylvania are durable unless stated otherwise.

Guardianships

To qualify for a guardian, a person must be impaired in such a way that he is partially or totally unable to manage financial resources or meet essential physical health or safety requirements. Stringent standards apply. A petition must be filed when a guardian is necessary.

Living Wills

Also called a treatment directive, a living will lists your wishes about end-of-life medical treatment. It is used if you no longer have the ability to make decisions or communicate. A living will can be written so as to refuse life-sustaining treatment if the maker is incompetent and either in a terminal condition or a state of permanent unconsciousness.

Medical Power of Attorney

This legal document lets you appoint someone (usually called a healthcare agent or proxy) to make decisions about your medical care. You can create an advance directive at any time and change it whenever you wish. You should share copies with your primary care physician and family. Make sure your family knows where your advance directive is located, and give a copy to your healthcare proxy. For more information on writing an advance directive, visit webMD.com and type "advance directive" in the search box.

Trusts

A trust is similar to a box where you place property, except a person places money in a brokerage or bank account and designates a manager referred to as the "trustee." The trustee distributes trust assets to the beneficiaries you select. Your attorney might recommend a trust if you have a large estate, an estate with young beneficiaries or in situations with special circumstances.

Wills

A will is an important legal document and the cornerstone of most estate plans. In a will, you direct how your property is to be distributed and you name a personal representative to administer your estate. The executor collects the estate assets, pays the estate debts and makes distributions to the beneficiaries you have designated in your will. It is generally advisable to nominate one executor and an alternate in your will rather than naming two individuals to serve as co-executors.

Tax Information

Pennsylvania Property Tax/Rent Rebate Program

(888) 222-9190
revenue.pa.gov

The Property Tax/Rent Rebate program, available to qualified seniors and permanently disabled citizens, is funded by the Pennsylvania Lottery and administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue.

The rebate program benefits eligible Pennsylvanians who are:

- Age 65 and older
- Widows and widowers age 50 and older
- People with disabilities age 18 and older

The Household Income Limits and Rebate amounts for homeowners are:

$0-$8,000	$650 rebate
$8,001-$15,000	$500 rebate
$15,001-$18,000	$300 rebate
$18,001-$35,000	$250 rebate

Renters with incomes between $0 and $8,000 now receive a $650 rebate; those with incomes between $8,001 and $15,000 receive a $500 rebate.

Half of Social Security income and now Social Security COLAs – are excluded.

As a result of Act 156 of 2014, income eligibility guidelines for the Property Tax/Rent Rebate Program have changed so that income increases due solely to Social Security cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs) will no longer disqualify claimants from receiving rebates.

The maximum standard rebate is $650, but supplemental rebates for qualifying homeowners can boost rebates to $975. The Revenue Department automatically calculates supplemental rebates for qualifying homeowners.

The PA-1000 booklet to claim the rebate is available after February 15. Claimants must file by June 30. Rebate checks are mailed beginning July 1 each year.

Call (888) 222-9190 or visit revenue.state.pa.us

Note: Occasionally, the filing date is extended. Rebate amounts are subject to change.

Utility Assistance

Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission

(800) 692-7380
puc.pa.gov

The Public Utility Commission requires utility companies to have programs and protections that help low-income customers keep their utility service. These programs may help pay utility bills or lower the amount of electricity or natural gas you use. Local electric or natural gas companies may call them by different names but each company has the following programs.

Budget Billing: All residential customers may contact their electric or natural gas company to request budget billing at any time. The monthly bill will be the same each month. The utility company can adjust the bill four times a year higher or lower depending on the customer's usage. There is no charge for switching to budget billing.

Customer Assistance Programs (CAP): This program is set up between the utility company and a customer and allows low-income, payment troubled customers to pay utility bills based on household size and gross household income. CAP customers agree to make regular monthly payments, which are usually less than the current bill, in exchange for continued utility service. Each utility company may have a different name for this program. Contact your local utility provider for details.

Customer Assistance Referral and Evaluation Program (CARES): The CARES program helps customers with special needs such as consumers who are experiencing family emergencies, divorce, unemployment or medical emergencies. A CARES representative may assist with referrals for food programs, housing, energy grants, budget counseling and employment assistance. The program's goal is to provide support and direction to help customers pay their utility bills.

Low-Income Usage Reduction Program (LIURP): LIURP helps low-income residential customers lower the amount of electricity or natural gas used each month. The utility company may provide free home weatherization. A utility company representative may come to your home to install energy saving features to help reduce your monthly bill.

Housing Options

Housing Options for Seniors

As we mature in years and our lifestyles change, we may also consider changing residences—either out of choice or need. Perhaps you want to downgrade to a more maintenance-free home or live in a community with others who share similar interests. Or maybe you need help with a health concern or other personal care. In any event, the type of housing you choose is crucial for your future contentment, comfort and safety.

Fortunately, these days, older adults have an array of living arrangements to choose from, and understanding all your options is the first step in making a choice that is right for you. This section of the Resource Guide can help you to understand the various types of housing options so you can make an informed decision.

DOM Care

Domiciliary Care is an adult foster care program that matches people who cannot live independently with individuals or families who are willing to open their homes for caregiving. For more details, turn to page 10.

Public Housing

In the first part of this section, you will find information about senior apartments for rent in our area. This form of public housing is appropriate for eligible low-income seniors, families and persons with disabilities.

Independent Living

Independent residential communities are perfect for older adults seeking an active yet hassle-free lifestyle. These residences can be apartments, condos or cottages that offer services and features suitable for retirees, such as housekeeping and laundry, social programs, transportation services, organized outings and limited medical services.

Choosing a Personal Care, Assisted Living or Nursing Home

The next part of this section is geared towards those who are transitioning from living independently into a residence where they can receive help with daily living activities that they may no longer be able to do on their own.

Personal Care Homes, Assisted Living

Personal Care Homes and Assisted Living facilities are for older adults who need some in-home, non-medical assistance but don't require the level of continuous care that a nursing home offers. This type of housing option typically provides help with things like meals, bathing, housekeeping and other needs. The important thing is to match, as closely as possible, the assisted living arrangements with the senior's needs and desires. The living quarters are usually private apartments or individual living spaces with common areas for socializing with other residents.

Nursing Homes

Nursing homes are for seniors in need of 24-hour skilled nursing care. They can be freestanding or part of a senior community, and they provide a lot of the same care options offered in other senior communities such as room and board, personal care, and protection and supervision. The length of stay can be short-term or long-term, and the level of care generally falls under three categories—basic care, skilled care and sub-acute care—depending on how comprehensive the resident's needs are.

Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC)

These communities allow seniors to “age in place” with flexible accommodations that are designed to meet health and housing needs as these needs change over time. Residents sign a long-term contract that offers housing, services and medical care—usually all in one location. This allows residents to remain in familiar settings as they grow older.

Skilled Nursing Homes

A nursing home (sometimes called a skilled nursing facility, or SNF) is a residence that provides the following services to people of all ages who need this level of living assistance: 24-hour supervision, medical care, room and board and meals.

Stays can be short-term for those recovering from illness or surgery, or long-term for individuals who can no longer live independently. In either case, a licensed staff provides comprehensive nursing care, including medication administration, dietary requirements and all treatment regimens.

Additionally, all residents are under the care of an on-call physician. Most nursing homes also offer a creative variety of social activities tailored to their residents.

Check the status of a nursing home's license or current listing by contacting the Pennsylvania Department of Health at health.pa.gov or (877) PA-HEALTH.

Medicaid pays the cost of nursing home care for people with limited incomes. Long-term care insurance, Medicare and private pay are ways in which to pay for care, and individuals should assess their financial situation before deciding on nursing home care.

Please consider that the process of locating a residence and filling out the necessary paperwork takes time, and many facilities have waiting lists. Whenever possible, give yourself ample time to plan in advance. All nursing homes are state licensed and regulated, and the federal government regulates nursing homes that receive federal funds.

Senior Centers

Senior centers are places for older adults to make new friends or gather with old friends, share a meal and get involved in a variety of activities. The following are just some of the exciting opportunities that await older adults.

- life enrichment classes
- exercise programs
- trips to interesting places
- transportation to and from the center
- financial and benefit counseling

Senior center activities are geared to the social, intellectual, cultural, economic, emotional and physical needs or interests of adults 50 years of age and older. In addition, the centers offer helpful information about benefits that are available to older adults in Beaver County. A shared lunch meal is also available at some of the centers on days that they are open. Some of the available activities and opportunities include:

Shared Meals

The menus are designed to provide an attractive meal to please older adults. Special diets are also available to individuals with a diet prescription. Meals are planned with input from seniors and designed to meet one-third of the older adult's daily nutritional requirements.

Life Enrichment

Education and seminars are available to address different types of activities and interests. These programs are selected by older adults and can range from dancing and history to gardening or therapeutic massage. Topics are limited only by the seniors' imaginations.

Health and Wellness Program

Supports and encourages older adults in making informed decisions about consumer health issues. Fitness and exercise programs are a fun and invigorating component to the program.

Counseling

Information and guidance regarding public and private services and benefit programs are available to assist older adults. This includes assistance with paperwork, forms and agency contact information.

Volunteer Programs

Opportunities are available for older adults to provide meaningful services to the community. Coordinators recruit and train volunteers to help in the center and other agencies in their neighborhood. Opportunities may include the following: clerical work, telephone reassurance, helping to prepare, deliver meals to the homebound, and friendly visits.
